

As we are nearing the end of the course there is not a lot of new areas to cover. I will however work more on server-database connection next week which will be interesting as it's the only part of the project I don't have some kind of grip on.

Hopefully during the workshop next week I can be helpful in discussing the completion of the project and perhaps helping someone else if they're unsure about an area.

I have been participating in the same way through all of the project, participating in discussion and creation of user stories.

This week I finished a user story that I was late with, which is something which will hopefully not happen again. After I completed that I worked on a github issue which was a CORS error during a POST command from the frontend.