

What do I want to learn or understand better?

- I want to learn more about the server-side/Wix-side of the project. This week I feel like I've done quite a lot and my interest towards our project has increased, e.g., learning about the connection between all the components everyone has been working on.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

- I can teach others about the automatic initialization of the database and how to modify the tables in our database through JSON-files.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

- Participation in the daily meetings as well as participating in both the sprint planning and the sprint review.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

- This week I've focused on connecting the database to the server and implementing an automatic initialization of the database when the server is started.
- I've also made it possible to insert certain events and students into the database.
- The database also fills up automatically when initializing the server.
- Connecting Spring and postgres.

Last week I said that I wanted to learn about the Wix end and insert info into the database. This will most likely be a user story for the upcoming week. I did read up on Wix data and learned most of it.
